FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

When once your friends have ascertained that you are little by the stone-mania, the first inquiry addressed to you on meeting, in every variety of tone, inquisitive, interested, dubious, or ironical, is invariably this—"Well, have you found your raison d'être?"

As long as you have not put your hand upon this treasure, you take these attacks as merely as you can, and even, it may be, mildly disclaim the existence, in your own case, of the absorbing anxiety you are supposed to feel. But you go on quietly poking about in the principal classic rubbish-heaps, with a determination to succeed, that grows more and more obstinate every day.

He draws his spectacles down upon his nose and passes in review the lump of stone of which you proceed to disburden yourself, rubbing each with a wet sponge to bring out its colour. Any piece which appears to his practised eyes as unworthy of his manipulation, he drops contemptuously into an old basket under his chair; but the production of any really good piece sets the old fellow into a wriggle of satisfaction.

We descended the gable of Mount St. Angelo, the spires, and windows were all aglow with the light of the setting sun. Gay groups of promenadeurs were slowly coming down the knee-winding slopes of the Pincian Hill, as we came by the melon-venders and lemon-cade-sellers were making for their homes; the shops were putting up their shutters, and their owners beginning to sit and gossip at their doors; and all foreigners were shutting themselves in for the night.

Rome, Friday, September 18.

Few foreigners remain for any time in Rome without falling in love with its wines; especially its numerous

And those who wish to make acquaintance with the bacchic deity, imprisoned in its quaint, old-fashioned, but still so charming, and so useful, and so effective covering of twisted straw, must be particular in seeing that their flask is thus labelled.

The flask of Alatico, the equally famous and sacred Tuscan wine, the vintage of Alatico, is difficult to keep, and is scarcely strong enough to bear transit over sea if stored in the wood it wears; but is said, with proper precaution, to keep in the short voyage, for previously bottled and well corked.

The Italians never use corks in keeping their wines for long periods. They use a stopper of the green, long-necked flask just alluded to, exactly fitted to the neck of the flask of olive oil so commonly seen in the shops of the Alatico wine merchants in London, but larger. When the flask is filled, the stopper is pushed down to the neck, a little olive-oil is poured in, a lump of cotton-wool is stuck in, by way of stopper, and above this a wedge of straw is pushed down to the neck, and the flask is ready for "corking." The oil is a better and more complete obstacle to the entrance of air than a cork; and wine so put up will keep for years without being corked in the French or English way. The Re Ret is the best of the Alatico in perfection in three years, and deteriorates as it keeps longer. The wine of Alatico will go on improving for years, and is the best of the Italian wines will bear keeping like those of Spain and Germany.

The richest and most important firm among the importers of Iran, in this city, is that of Moazziz Veli, in the Lelisa. A year ago, two confidential clerks were written in one of the offices of the establishment, when one of them happened to catch sight, through a sort of fanlight, looking out upon the common staircase of the house, a couple of very ill-looking faces moving stealthily up the stairs, towards the apartments occupied by the family of their employer. STELLA

Sir David Davar has funded £800 for the purpose of establishing two scholarships in the University of Edinburgh, of a value of £60 each per annum.

It is stated in a Scottish journal that Madeline Smith, who was formerly a member of the Glasgow University, has recently been comfortably married, and may occasionally be seen on the streets of Glasgow with her husband, in a church not a hundred miles from Lintlithgow.

At Birmingham a band of eighteen went to church to be married. The bride, however, being long too late to wait. The marriage was postponed to the knowledge of the bridegroom, who had come to postpone the marriage on account of the extreme youth of his bride. The young man became much excited and died within a few hours.

According to a public document just printed, it appears that John Smith, a well known London tradesman, died in London, England, in 1850 the number was only 13,000.

There are 7600 streets in London, measuring some 1400 miles, if placed end to end. It is estimated that there are more than 200 miles of distance from Calcutta to Constantinople, and walking ten miles a day, it would take a man 20 years to go there. It is estimated that there are 100,000,000 people in the world, and that there will be 1,000,000,000 in the interim a new city, with from 50,000 to 750,000 inhabitants, will have sprung up.

One of the most curious and destructive hoaxes known for a long series of years occurred a little before midnight on September 1, in the district of Reading. The lightning was fierce and the rain so vivid that the people were deceived into believing that the world was on fire, and that the end of the world was at hand.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, 22nd November, at 11 o'clock.

pretty situated on the banks of one of the finest rivers in the colony, bounded on one side by that river, and on another by Glenbrook Brook, which at this spot is a never-failing deep-water stream. The estate contains about 1350 ACRES of LAND, about 1000 of which are fenced in, subdivided into even paddocks, with never-failing water in each, and some as good cultivation land as any on the Hunter.

BRINKBURN is distant from Maitland about 18 miles, from the Hunter River and Glenbrook, about 4 miles, and from the BLACK CREEK RAILWAY STATION about 10 miles.

The Cottage, BRINKBURN LODGE, which contains seven rooms, is beautifully situated on the bank of the river, and is well adapted for the accommodation of a respectable family.

The outbuildings comprise the following—kitchen, stores, barn, &c. &c.

There are also a capital garden, a most productive orchard, and about 25 acres of vineyard sloping to the water-side.

There is also a second homestead on the property, on a deep water reach of Glenbrook Brook.

The improvements comprise a cottage, barn, stock-yard, &c.

Attached to the estate is an extensive back run, which adds much to its value as a dairy or breeding farm.

The neighbourhood is respectable, the situation remarkably healthy and convenient, being close to Maitland and Singleton, and only about four miles from a railway station.

There is a seam of coal on the property which has been locally used, and may eventually, from its proximity to railway carriage, be of immense value.

This estate being in the market for positive sale, affords a splendid opportunity for securing a most favourably situated homestead and agricultural and dairy farm, with the advantages of railway and water carriage.

ROBERTS STORE, Fitcher's Shop, Cottage, Residence, &c., together with one and a half acre of land on the Liverpool Road, near the Fairfield Railway Station.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Mr. W. J. Hobbs, at the consequence of his leaving the colony, to sell, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, 23rd November, at 11 o'clock.

The above described property and established business.

The premises comprise butcher's shop, general store, warehouse, cottage of 4 rooms, with detached kitchen, outbuildings for storing goods, &c. They are substantially built of weatherboards and have only been recently erected.

The land on which they stand contains an area of about 1 acre, being lots 1, 2, and 3 of section 20 of the subdivision of the Town of Prosperity, Southfield, near the Fairfield Railway Station, having an extensive frontage to the Liverpool Road. It is richly watered by a good fence, and subdivided into paddocks, kitchen garden, and small orchard.

This property has only just been completed, and is a modern establishment, by the present proprietor, who is compelled from ill health to leave the colony. The position is surrounded by large prosperous population, and as there are no places of business of a similar description, within five miles, the purchaser, if a man of energy, would secure an extensive and profitable trade.

BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEE.

GREAT SOUTHERN ROAD, MYRTLE CREEK.

EXTENSIVE and VALUABLE ROADSIDE BUSINESS PREMISES, well known as GRAY'S PATROL HOTEL, situated on the Great Southern Road, 24 miles from the PICTON RAILWAY STATION, and 16 miles from Camden, together with about 500 acres of first-rate agricultural and grazing land, bordered by the waters of Myrtle Creek, the Nepean and Bargo Rivers.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Mr. W. J. Hobbs, at the consequence of his leaving the colony, to sell, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, 23rd November, at 11 o'clock.

All those valuable and important business premises, well known as GRAY'S PATROL HOTEL, Myrtle Creek, Southern Road, comprising a substantial building, HARDWOOD WEATHERBOARD BUILDING on stone foundations, having a frontage of 70 feet, and containing broad verandahs to the front and back, and SIXTEEN LARGE ROOMS, viz.—Bar, taproom, two parlours, and three bedrooms at the public end, and three parlours and two bedrooms at the other end. The whole is furnished with polished, and in good condition, the principal rooms being well papered. The outbuildings include kitchen and servants' room, and a large, open, large stone barn, and stone water tank, 12 feet x 12 feet, fitted with pump; stabling for four horses, and enclosed orchard, containing strong gum yards, &c., and every other convenience required for carrying on a large establishment. The land is upwards of 500 acres, and is well watered with fruit trees and a large number of fall-bearing trees.

The land comprises 400 acres, more or less, of good agricultural and grazing land, and is all fenced in. Upwards of 50 acres have been cleared, and under cultivation. A large portion is divided into paddocks for growing purposes, and no traceable income is derived from this source.

The above land is additionally valuable, from the fact of its being a Government reserve of about 300 to 400 acres, which is bounded by Mr. Gray's property on one side, and is conveyed to him by the waters of the NEPEAN and BARGO Rivers, and Myrtle Creek on the other side.

The diversity of large reputation of the above hotel, and the large business it commands, as is well known to all travelling the Southern Road that commences on its situation, trade, or property, are quite immovable. It is now a rare opportunity for investment in any.

LEASE FOR THREE YEARS, from 1st January, 1894.

Day of Sale, TUESDAY, 15th December.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the Hon. Geoffrey Blane, Esq., Treasurer and Secretary for Finance and Trade, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, 15th December, at half-past 11 o'clock precisely.

The lease for three years, commencing on the 1st day of January, 1894, is the present property, who is compelled from ill health to leave the colony.
